Current Topics.

The annual production of cheese in the United States is commercially estimated at 300,000 pounds, made in 3,000 factories. New York and Wisconsin each have 1,000 factories and produce three-fourths of the entire output. Other cheese-making States in their order are Ohio, Michigan and Pennsylvania.
In Tripoli the barley constitutes the bulk of the food for the people. The area under this crop constitutes about three-fourths of the cultivated land, and the annual crop is from 1,400,000 to 2,000,000 bushels.
The value of imports into the Philippine Islands direct from the United States for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1900, was $1,656,460 over ten times greater than the annual average from 1892 to 1899.
A recent important event in the wheat-exporting business in the United States was the chartering of a steamship to sail from the Pacific coast for Europe by way of the Pacific and the Suez Canal carrying about 3,000 tons of wheat.
A commercial estimate of the cranberry crop of the United States for 1900 places it at 189,000 barrels.

The Local Election.

Some surprises developed in Tuesday's election. In Green several Republicans were successful, in Shohola a large number of the voters who had been considered to be better men on the Republican ticket. When townships reach the stage of voting for the better men there will be no difficulty in having the offices filled with those who will administer local affairs with energy and economy and it will be all the better for the communities when this sensible state of things comes to pass. There are a lot of candidates always ready to run who have no need to offer the Scotchman's prayer, Lord give us a good conceit of ourselves. In fact there are some such in this Borough.

Huntington Reforms ory.

We are in receipt, through the courtesy of T. P. Patton, General Supt., of the sixth biennial report of the Pennsylvania Industrial Reformatory at Huntington. It is very nicely printed and bound and is the work of the inmates. At the close of 1900 there were 409 all of whom except 4 were employed in various occupations. During 1899 Pike had one inmate for which the county was charged $91.25 and in 1900 3 for whom the charge was $62.50. The illustrations show that some very fine work is being done in the way of making tools and the brick used in the new buildings as well as the laying and the stone and the carpenter work is all done by the inmates. Those coming out will at least have learned the rudiments of a good trade which will enable them to be useful citizens if they rightly apply their knowledge.

THE RAMBLERS PICKINGS.

Mrs. Gottfried Wisland Jr. of Long Eddy, visited her father D. H. Predmore, of Montague, this week.
Miss Sarah Lambert has gone to New York.
No Friend Warren, no trolley yet for Sandyston. Can't afford to let you get a head of us poor mortals over here.
Henry Tisot lost his best horse last Thursday.
Mrs. R. L. Sayre has about recovered from her present illness.
Disappointments and surprises are part of our lives. No matter how well your plans may be laid—a trifle will upset all.
Paul Shanno, of Stroudsburg, Pa., was a visitor in town this week.
Three of our oldest residents have gone to the great and unknown beyond within less than two weeks. The old must and the old young will die.
The family of Philip Steele has been more than unfortunate this winter. Husband and children sick and now the wife worn out with care.
Blizzards, zero weather, mud and some high wind thrown in is making life worth living.
Geo. Horton and Paul Bourneque were busy the forepart of the week getting subscribers for the stock of the Milford Driving Park Association. As both gentlemen are good talkers of course they were successful.
Jersey lightning and Pike county hard tack do not mix well together.
Arthur Piersons gray horse understands the biz of peddling as well as his owner. He (the horse) goes from house to house alone, while Arthur does the rest.
According to the cities dailys Mrs. Carrie Nation seems to have a high old time wielding her hatchet. For some reason unexplained the authorities are afraid of the old girl. Her husband wants her to come home. But smashing has more charms for her than wife or motherhood.

BRIEF MENTION.

The Hatchet Society supper tonight.
It is said that the joyous peals of wedding bells will soon ring out.
The L. A. S. of the M. E. church met at the home of Mrs. W. S. Ryman last Friday.
A blizzard struck the western end of the State Wednesday and four feet of snow fell on the level.
Henry Tisot, of Dingman township, lost a valuable horse last week. The animal had its leg broken by a kick from another horse and had to be shot.
Senator D. S. Lee of this district has introduced a bill appropriating $80,000 to the East Stroudsburg Normal to erect a new building to combine a model school and recitation halls.
Mrs. Carrie Nation was arrested at Topeka, Kansas, Monday on a charge of disturbing the peace and refusing to give bail was sent to prison. Some of her lieutenants were likewise placed under bonds.
Louis Rudolph has severed his connection with the paper firm of M. Plinn & Co. and will begin business on his own account in Middletown next week. He has our best wishes for success.
George, a son of L. H. Wagner who fell some time ago on the ice and broke his leg, was allowed this week to go out for the first time since his accident, when he again fell and fractured the leg in the same place.
It is somewhat of a nuisance to call Pike the orange spot, since for best fires have got in their work. The very black spot would be physically, though perhaps not politically in view of the recent results of election more appropriate.
Miss Louise J. Newman has presented the store building on Broad street to Geo. R. Quick as a token of her esteem for his kindly treatment of her brother the late John B. Newman. Mr. Quick will remodel the building into a dwelling and make it his home.
Harry Bensley will sell at public sale on the Smith farm west of Layton March 14, his stock of farming tools, live stock, grain and furniture. He has obtained a situation as foreman on a gentlemen's farm near Passaic and will remove his family there.
John S. Sigler will have a vendue on the river road below the Brick House in Sandyston Feb'y 27. A large lot of farming implements, household furniture and some live stock, hay, grain etc., will be sold. Mr. Sigler will go back to New York to assume a position which he formerly held for 25 years.
A large barn and several outbuildings on the farm of Mrs. Francis Westfall, in Montague, N. J., were burned early Tuesday morning. All the hay, cornfodder and farming implements, except a couple of wagons, a horse rake and seeder, and eighteen head of cattle and three horses, were destroyed. The insurance was $1,500, and the loss will probably be $3,000.
It is reported that many roads in the county are impassable by reason of snow drifts which the supervisors have made no efforts to shovel out, one in Milford township in particular. Supervisors neglecting to open roads within a reasonable time are liable to indictment and there are probably sufficient grounds in several instances for "putting it no some of them."
Prof. C. Coles, of Kingston, Pa., died recently of pneumonia. He was editor and publisher of "Storms and Signs" and had quite an extended reputation as a weather prognosticator. He claimed to be enabled with his electric eye, a powerful magnifying glass of his own invention, to penetrate futurity, and many of his predictions were remarkably accurate in their fulfillment.
By the death of "Squire Cortright" a familiar figure is removed from our midst. He had long been established in business at the shop where he worked and was always to be found at his bench. Few men in the community were better known than was he, and those residing in the vicinity were wont to gather around his stove in winter and pass away their spare hours in his company. He was a good citizen and always strove to do his duty faithfully. There are many who make greater pretensions and yet fall far short of actual performance than did he.

By the death of "Squire Cortright" a familiar figure is removed from our midst. He had long been established in business at the shop where he worked and was always to be found at his bench. Few men in the community were better known than was he, and those residing in the vicinity were wont to gather around his stove in winter and pass away their spare hours in his company. He was a good citizen and always strove to do his duty faithfully. There are many who make greater pretensions and yet fall far short of actual performance than did he.
